Palace hit by dissident pilot

Thieu escapes bomb attack

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu escaped injury today when a South Vietnamese fighter pilot made a bomb and rocket attack on the presidential palace in Saigon.

Thieu said in a broadcast that the attack was "an act of a group of people aimed at killing me with the intention to change this legal and constitutional regime. I am determined to continue

SPRING WEATHER has inspired spring cleaning in and around Washington C.H., but unfortunately, it has also inspired spring burning. . . .

Washington C.H. Fire Chief Maynard L. (Joe) Denen reminds city residents that any open burning is punishable by a $10,000 fine for each offense. . . .

Now, everyone knows the fire department isn't going to douse your burning garbage can and then slap the ten grand fine across your palm. . . . They'll explain the ordinance to you and then give you a hand in putting out your fire. . . .

But, keep in mind that even a $10,000 fine can't replace or compensate for a lost life because firemen were lecturing a trash fire starter, while a house burned and a family was cremated, somewhere on the other end of town, because they were elsewhere. . . .

Open burning is permissible within the confines of the code, but within reason. . . . Firemen aren't going to hose down your steaks or hamburgers as they cook over your charcoal grill, but they might, if you're cooking over a giant bonfire. . . . Likewise, an emergency flare, ignited to alert oncoming motorists to your broken-down auto, doesn't constitute open burning either, but should you be in doubt over what is and isn't open burning, give the Washington C.H. Fire Department a call at 335-2425 and ask, before they are summoned to make a run out to tell you you're in violation. . . .

Please abide by the ordinance before a tragic incident makes the enforcement of the weighty fine a necessity. . . .

Bombs blast substation

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Terrorist bombs ripped through a Pacific Gas & Electric Co. substation early today, knocking out power to 22,000 homes, authorities said. It was the second series of blasts at the facility in 12 days. Three bombs exploded at the utility's Hicks substation at 12:25 a.m., causing extensive damage to two transformers and disrupting service over a 20-mile area, the Santa Clara County sheriff's office said.

No injuries were reported. Terrorists hit the same substation with five pipe bombs on March 27. On that occasion, three banks of transformers were wiped out, and service was disrupted to 35,000 homes.

A PG&E spokesman said a security guard had been posted at the substation after that bombing but was removed Monday night.

After today's bombings, PG&E rushed two portable transformers to the substation, some 15 miles southwest of downtown San Jose, and a spokesman reported that service had been restored by 3:54 a.m.

An estimate of damage was not immediately available, but PG&E spokesman Larry McDonnell said "it was less extensive than last time."

A bomb squad and FBI agents rushed to the scene, cordoned off the area and searched unsuccessfully for other possible bombs.

Officers said they did not yet know what type of devices were used.

A group calling itself the New Liberation Army claimed responsibility for the March 27 bombing, which shook homes two miles from the substation.

It demanded that the utility lower its power rates for persons with fixed incomes.

leading this country." But the commander of the air force, Lt. Gen. Tran Van Minh, said it was "an individual act of an air force officer" who "did not realize the danger of such a violent, senseless act."

The pilot, identified as 1st Lt. Nguyen Thanh Trung, flew off, and it was thought he landed in territory held by the North Vietnamese or Viet Cong.

Gen. Minh said the air force is loyal to Thieu. Former Premier Nguyen Cao Ky, a former commander of the air force and one of the leaders of the political forces in Saigon demanding that Thieu step down, denied that he was involved in the attack.

Other non-Communist opposition leaders denied any involvement in an attempted coup.

Two persons were reported killed and three wounded in the attack. The government ordered a 24-hour curfew in Saigon but lifted it in midafternoon after six hours. The city normally is under curfew from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m. each night.

Meanwhile, heavy Viet Cong and North Vietnamese attacks were reported east and west of Saigon. The closest attack was 20 miles to the east, on the Long Thanh armored school where five soldiers were killed and 28 wounded, the Saigon command said.

Forty-five miles to the east of Saigon a government infantry position repulsed an attack killing nine Viet Cong and losing two government soldiers.

In the Mekong Delta, a thousand-round barrage hit a base camp near Moc Hoa, a provincial capital 50 miles west of Saigon. Five government troops were reported killed. Attacks also were reported on Tuyen Binh, a district town in the area, and the government claimed 24 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

U.S. officials in Washington said there were indications that the Communists would not mount a direct assault on Saigon for the next two or three weeks but instead would press for the ouster of Thieu and a negotiated surrender.

The U.S. Defense Department said 1,500 more U.S. Marines have been moved to the Philippines to provide "backup capability" for the 2,500 Marines aboard U.S. Navy ships off Vietnam. The naval task force has been assembled to evacuate Americans from Saigon if the threat to the city becomes acute. But Pentagon sources said evacuation plans are being made quietly to avoid triggering defeatism that could hasten the country's collapse.

The wife of the British ambassador and 41 other British wives, children and nonessential embassy personnel arrived in Hong Kong en route to London. The embassy staff was reported reduced to seven or eight staff members.

In Cambodia, government forces withstood an all-night attack across the Mekong river from Phnom Penh, and army units four miles north of the city's airport were reported under heavy pressure. The army reduced its forces in two more isolated enclaves — Prey Veng, 30 miles east of Phnom Penh, and Svay Rieng, 25 miles to the southeast — to strengthen the defense of the capital. Heavy fighting was reported in another such enclave, Kompong Speu, 30 mile southwest of Phnom Penh, where the Khmer Rouge have penetrated into the city.

Republican changeover begins here

New deputy registrar appointed

BY SANDY FOSSON

The changeover to a Republican administration in the Ohio statehouse back in January is just now implanting its roots in Fayette County with the appointment of a new deputy registrar.

Mrs. Martha Campbell, 2961 Ohio 41-N, began her duties as deputy registrar for Fayette County Monday after being endorsed by the Fayette County Republican Party and appointed by Ohio registrar Curtis Andrews.

Mrs. Campbell replaces Mrs. Mary Jones, 914 Pearl St., who had served in the capacity since February, 1972, when she was named deputy registrar by the Fayette County Democratic committee.

Lawrence Grim, chairman of the Fayette County Republican committee, said the reappointment took so long because "apparently no one was interested in taking the job." He said the salary of the deputy registrar is "piece-meal," based on a 50 cent fee for each license plate sold in the local office.

Grim said the appointment of Mrs. Campbell as registrar was the result of a six-month search by the Fayette County Republican committee.

However, Mrs. Jones said the changeover was somewhat "sudden" because she had received a letter of appointment March 14 stating she would be deputy registrar for a year and that she was to proceed with ordering supplies for the local office. Mrs. Jones said she had received "no explanation whatsoever" for the change in plans.

Andrews explained the appointment as a mistake. "Somehow with this (Fayette County) bureau, a traveling auditor or someone gave her the contract when they shouldn't have," he said.

But Mrs. Jones stated she has "no ill feelings" because she had "met a world of friends in the office."

Mrs. Jones said she needed a vacation and planned to travel to Iowa to visit her mother.

Third Connally payoff disclosed by Jacobsen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jake Jacobsen says he now thinks he made a third $5,000 payment to former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally, although he has no memory of handing Connally the cash.

The new allegation was drawn out of Jacobsen by Connally's defense lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, apparently to cast doubt on the clarity of Jacobsen's recollections.

Williams begins his second day of cross-examination today and is expected to probe for any weaknesses in Jacobsen's story about a bungled cover-up of the bribe money he says Connally took in 1971.

On Monday Williams hammered away at Jacobsen, attempting to paint the government's star witness as an accused embezzler who is testifying as part of a deal to keep out of jail and possibly hold onto his license to practice law.

Jacobsen is the only witness who claims first-hand knowledge of the two alleged payoffs that Connally is accused of taking for helping persuade the Nixon administration to raise milk prices.

The question of a third $5,000 has lingered since first mention of it was made in 1973. It was then that an official of Associated Milk Producers Inc., Bob A. Lilly, told prosecutors that Jacobsen had asked for a total of $15,000 to give to Connally.

Jacobsen testified that he took one $10,000 sum from Lilly, split it into two halves and gave the two $5,000 gifts to Connally on May 14 and Sept. 24, 1971.

But Jacobsen initially denied receiving the third $5,000, and the conflict in testimony between Lilly and Jacobsen was not resolved.

Williams introduced notes and transcripts on Monday showing that Jacobsen changed his story on the third $5,000 after poring over records of his safe deposit boxes in Austin, Tex., where he lives.

The records show Jacobsen opened one of his boxes on Dec. 14, 1971, two days before one of Jacobsen's trips to Washington to visit Connally.

Jacobsen told prosecutors and a federal grand jury that he could recall having money in his brief case on the trip. At first he said he had only an "inkling" that a third payoff was made, but later he testified to the investigators: "I must have given it to him, because I brought it to Washington for that purpose."

The grand jury, however, indicted Connally only for the two payoffs of which Jacobsen says he has a clear recollection.

Jacobsen testified in court on Monday that it is still his "firm thought" that a third payoff was made.

"The only thing I don't have a firm recollection of is giving it to Secretary Connally," he said.

During Monday's cross-examination Williams read page after page of Jacobsen's now recanted testimony denying that Connally took the two $5,000 gifts.

Four different times in 1973 and 1974 Jacobsen denied the payoff allegations under oath, to the Watergate committee, to lawyers in a civil case and twice to the grand jury. Williams seemed to read every word of that testimony, in effect having the government's star witness testify for the defense.

Jacobsen now swears Connally took at least $10,000, and says he was lying before to cover for himself and Connally.

In Perry Township

Commission approves bridge replacement

The Fayette County Board of Commissioners authorized the immediate replacement of a county bridge, located on Capps Road in Perry Township, during their Monday afternoon session.

The commissioners ordered the construction of a new pre-stressed concrete beam bridge 28 feet long and 21 feet wide after receiving a report from Fayette County engineer Charles P. Wagner, stating the present structure over Walnut Creek on Capps Road was weak and in dire need of replacing.

Wagner stated employees of the county garage would construct the bridge, estimated to cost $10,370. He added that it would be necessary to close Capps Road approximately ten days for construction.

In other business Monday afternoon, the commission members entered into a second contract with Raymond W. Wilson for the installation of new linoleum flooring in the kitchen areas of the Fayette County Children's Home on Ohio 38 at a cost not to exceed $1,120.

At Rocky Fork Lake

Shoe believed owned by missing man found

HILLSBORO — A shoe believed to be owned by one of two men missing at Rocky Fork State Park was recovered Monday on the south shore of Rocky Fork Lake, according to park manager Robert Tooney.

No other signs have been turned up in two days of searching, Rooney said.

Missing are Ronald Klube, 27, and Steve Wilkin, 25, both of Cincinnati. The pair left their Cincinnati homes Friday for a fishing trip, and probably arrived at the park Saturday, their parents said.

Rooney said park officials found a car and boat trailer parked at Fisherman's Wharf near the lake early Sunday and began an informal search. Later, the men's parents contacted the Highland County Sheriff's Department and reported them missing.

The shoe, found about 300 yards from where the men left their car, was "about 95 per cent" identified by Wilkin's parents, Rooney said.

The search ended at dark Monday, and resumed at daybreak today. Dragging operations were also launched today. A channel in the lake will be dredged as part of the search. Airplanes have been used to look for signs of the men's fiberglass boat, which was new and being tried out for the first time.

Americans see Indochina lost

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many members of the House and the Senate say they found a feeling among constituents during the Easter recess that Cambodia and South Vietnam are lost and that any new U.S. military aid would be wasted.

But some of the lawmakers, while reporting the views of their constituents, were more cautious about describing their own sentiments and future actions. Some said they would wait until President Ford delivers his foreign policy address Thursday night.

Rep. Tom Steed, R-Okla., said: "It seems to me it's just like the folks down home said: 'It's all over but the shouting.'"

Steed, until now a staunch supporter of U.S. aid for Indochina, said he won't vote for any more.

Referring to voter sentiment, Sen. Frank L. Moss, D-Utah, said: "They're saying no, a loud, loud no."

Rep. G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery, D-Miss., a supporter of U.S. aid, harshly criticized the South Vietnamese forces' collapse.

Montgomery said he would vote more military aid "if they've got a halfway chance" but said of his constituents: "Most of them said don't give them any more money unless they stand and fight."

However, former California Gov. Ronald Reagan said congressional failure to support South Vietnam is "the most irresponsible action of the Congress of the United States in the last 100 years of our history."

Speaking in a London television interview, Reagan said the "United States should continue to support its pledge to support the South Vietnamese and Cambodia." Meanwhile, there were these developments:

—President Ford, who returned to Washington Monday night after a nine-day West Coast vacation, has directed the National Security Council to meet today to assess the situation in Vietnam.

—U.S. preparations to evacuate Americans from South Vietnam continued quietly to avoid triggering defeatism that could hasten Vietnam's collapse. There are more than 5,000 Americans in South Vietnam.

—A Marine battalion of about 1,500 men has been moved to a U.S. naval base in the Philippines to be ready for use if needed in any evacuation. This brings to about 4,000 the number of Marines stationed within a few days' sailing time of South Vietnam and Cambodia.

—The evacuation of orphans will continue, but in smaller groups, South Vietnamese officials said. Almost 2,000 children already have been sent to the United States, Britain, Australia and Canada.

Ohio prisons overcrowded

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's rapidly rising prison population has caused corrections officials to consider a number of "undesirable alternatives" for housing the additional inmates.

State Corrections Director George Denton said Monday the actions could include the doubling up of inmates in oneman cells and possibly reopening part of the old Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus.

Denton said the number of prisoners system-wide is rising at an alarming rate with no letup in sight.

Since the start of the year, Denton said, the number of prisoners has been growing by nearly 230 per month and the total population will exceed the prison system's practical capacity of 10,200 by the end of this month.

At the start of April, the number of prisoners reached 10,009, an increase of 1,945 over the same time last year and the largest population since July 1969, Denton said.

State trapping bill facing opposition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public hearings begin tonight on a bill which the state's top game management expert says would destroy the trapping industry in Ohio.

The bill would outlaw the steel jaw leg-hold trap and require trappers to use either a trap which kills instantly or a trap which leaves animals uninjured.

"This bill would eliminate trapping in Ohio," says Bob Ebersole, game supervisor for the Natural Resources Department.

"The supporters are misleading the people, working on the emotions of the people," he said. "They just don't know what they're talking about."

Supporters of the bill, sponsored by Rep. Mike Stinziano, D-30 Columbus, contend the bill would prevent needless torture of animals.

Stinziano has said that opponents of the bill are the ones playing on emotion by trying to characterize a humane trapping bill as a proposal to deviously end trapping.

But Ebersole said present laws protect animals from torture sufficiently, while the proposal is too restrictive.

Ebersole said under present law, the larger, more dangerous traps can be used only in water, where they quickly drown the beaver they are intended to catch.

Smaller traps used on land are gentle enough that an animal usually can be released unharmed, he said. He said state law requires trap lines be checked every 30 hours, so no animal would be left for a slow death in the trap.

"We don't want to see the animals injured either," Ebersole said. "We take all this into consideration."

Ebersole said publicity by supporters appears misleading. He said a favorite advertisement shows a pet cat trapped in a leg-hold trap.

"You look at it, and it's sitting on mowed grass with clover around it—a city lawn. That's not where the trapping takes place," he said.

He said if the bill passes, the wildlife population skyrocket, dooming thousands of animals to lingering death from distemper or mange.

"You've got a tremendous disease reserve here is these numbers are not kept in check," he said.

The hearing tonight, before the House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee, is limited to supporters of the bill. Opponents will testify next Tuesday.

Rep. John E. Johnson, D-68 Orrville, has said he expects hundreds of persons to appear to testify.

delegation to the preparatory meeting that opened in Paris Monday expects the future conference to be "something more than a discussion limited exclusively to energy and something less than a discussion of all raw material problems."

Speeches at Monday's public opening of the preparatory meeting reiterated the opposing positions taken previously by the industrialized nations and the members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and other developing nations whose only wealth is in the raw materials they export. But American officials said private contacts with the other delegations, including the militant Algerians, convinced them that a compromise will be worked out on all the procedural issues.

Publicly, representatives of the United States, Japan and the European Economic Community said they wanted the coming conference limited to a discussion of energy and energy-related problems, with participation restricted to a small group of key countries. The oil-exporting countries, with Algeria in the lead, insisted on a general discussion of all raw material problems at a large conference.

Algerian chief delegate Ait Chalaal told a news conference that the three other oil exporters at the preparatory meeting — Saudi Arabia, Iran and Venezuela — and the three other developing countries present — Brazil, India and Zaire—are in full agreement with the Algerian position.

However, the American sources said they consider Chalaal a realist who would accept a compromise avoiding a conference too unwieldy to produce results. And the United States recognizes that the future conference cannot avoid all discussion of raw materials other than oil, the officials added.

The U. S. delegation in effect also repudiated a statement by Assistant Secretary of State Thomas Enders in a British television interview Sunday that the U.S. government is trying to destroy OPEC, the oil cartel which has quadrupled the price of crude oil in the last 18 months.

Traffic fatalities rising as drivers shun speed limit

CHICAGO (AP) — Traffic fatalities, which declined 17 per cent in 1974, are climbing again as many Americans return to driving patterns to which they were accustomed before last year's gasoline shortages.

The latest National Safety Council statistics for the first two months of this year show a 6 per cent rise from the same two months in 1974. January marked the first monthly increase from the previous year since October 1973.

There was a dramatic decline in the fatality rate in the early months of 1974 during the gasoline crunch as motorists drove less frequently and slower.

From January to May 1974, traffic fatalities were down 25 per cent from record 1973 levels, and the National Safety Council expected some slippage this year.

"There was a tremendous reduction in miles driven last spring," Ron Kuykendall, a council spokesman, said Monday. "Now, mileage is back to normal, a little bit above 1973 levels."

"We also don't have the national trauma we had last spring when we had to wait in long lines for gasoline and service stations were closed on weekends. Then, too, there is not as much emphasis on reducing driving and on reducing speed."

Initial projections of the council predicted the the 1975 traffic fatality toll would be a little higher than the 46,200 persons who were killed in 1974. With the most recent statistics, however, Kuykendall said early projections may have to be pushed upward.

If the current increase continues at 6 per cent, about 49,000 persons would be killed in highway accidents this year. In comparison, highway deaths in 1973 totaled 55,800 fatalities.

Kuykendall said he expects the fatality rate to increase at a faster rate in the coming months. But he said if the use of safety harnesses remains at its current level, the monthly fatality rate around mid-summer should be about the same as last year.

Gilligan donation

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Despite former Gov. John Gilligan's own guidelines on campaign contribution limits, his campaign director accepted $25,000 from Youngstown developer Edward J. DeBartolo, the Akron Beacon Journal has disclosed.

The campaign director, Eugene P. O'Grady, maintains a thick envelope containing the cash was returned untouched after the shopping center and race track financier failed to supply the names of the contributors.

DeBartolo has denied making the contribution, although he said "three or four" persons at DeBartolo Corp. donated.

Stock prices up slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market swung upward today in a moderate technical rally abetted by signs of strength in the bond market.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 5.40 at 748.28 as the market tried to break a chain of six consecutive losses. Gainers led losers by about a 3-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts noted that a primary concern of investors the past few days had been the future course of interest rates. A rally in bonds this morning evidently eased fears that rates might be heading into a new upsurge.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index rose .27 to 78.98.

Pasco climbed 2 1/4 to 23 3/4 on top of a 2 1/2-point gain Monday on news of a $220 million cash offer of Standard Oil of Indiana for Pasco's oil producing properties in Wyoming. Indiana standard was up 1/2 today at 38 1/2.

The NYSE's composite index was up .27 at 42.96.

Four trash fires probed

Washington C.H. firemen were summoned to four trash fires Monday, and in each case they advised the persons responsible of the city ordinance against open burning.

The first fire was at 11:15 a.m. at the Hatti Sword residence, 518 Eastern Ave.; the second, at 12:05 p.m. at the Mary Sanders residence, 728 Columbus Ave.; the third at 9:07 p.m., at the Kelley Dixon residence, 1009 Leesburg Ave. and the fourth fire was called in at 6:35 p.m. by someone who reported a trash fire at the corner of Campbell and Gregg streets, but firemen were unable to locate it.

Money Matters

By David G. Looker

Does This Make Sense To You?

There's this much about borrowing money — two basic considerations:

1. - Using business credit makes sense if it enables one to do something that one couldn't do if he had to pay cash - i.e., if there is a reasonable possibility that one can repay the money borrowed.

2. - There is only one situation wherein borrowing money makes sense if one does have the cash he needs: If one can make more money (profit) after paying interest, than his cash money can earn in the same period of time.

Now, think that over carefully, and then tell me if I have made sense!

Congratulations to Vic Luneberg for being elected president of Fayette County Health Board.

When to borrow, and when not to borrow — that is the question that plagues so many so often. And that is where we can often be of real help, with the advice and guidance needed. Come to our Bank, your Friendly First National, and we'll give you some good answers!

Problems in space

Despite the dramatic successes of man's ventures in space thus far, there have been a number of hints that space exploration is not going to be all peaches and cream. Things go wrong on occasion. Both the United States and the Soviet Union have lost astronauts. There have been failures of equipment. There is no reason to suppose that unforeseen problems will not arise in the future.

These thoughts are brought to mind by a couple of unrelated news items. One concerns the outcome of Mariner 10's third encounter with Mercury. The other has to do with Michel Siffre, the French geologist who isolated himself in a Texas cave for many months in 1972.

The word from the University of Arizona Lunar and Planetary Laboratory is that because of technical difficulties the 500 photographs taken by Mariner 10 on its final swing near Mercury were only about 25 per cent "readable." A major problem was that just before this encounter the little spacecraft did not respond properly to commands. The total mission was a great success nevertheless, but this episode does illustrate how the best laid plans of men can go agley in space as well as on their home planet.

The story about Siffre may have graver implications for the long run. He reports that he is still suffering from impaired health as a result of his lonely ordeal in a Texas cave.

The experiment was undertaken to study how long isolation from Earth's day-night rhythms affects mind and body. In summation the Frenchman now says, "I am convinced that final results of this experiment will reveal serious problems confronting future long-range space travelers."

Specialists in space medicine have shown a remarkable ability to surmount problems as they arise. The odds are good that they will be able to deal with future problems. Siffre's experience does suggest once again that humanity's outreach into the void may become much more complex and difficult than early successes have led many to believe.

WASHINGTON CALLING By Marquis Childs

Big quake ignored

SAN FRANCISCO — Under a brilliant sun, this city which wins hands-down as America's favorite has been overflowing with Easter week visitors. The news at home and abroad may be as black as the headlines that reflect it, but these are holiday crowds bent on the pleasures of a fabulous city.

A strong element in the American character is a determination to ignore the pessimists and sweep bad news under the rug.

Nowhere is this more evident than in San Francisco where new high-rises continue to crowd the steep hills of the downtown area. And this is despite a warning that, if anyone bothered to look, casts a dark shadow over the city.

During the past year a documentary entitled "San Francisco: The City That Waits To Die" has been shown on four television stations. The message of this documentary, being circulated by Time-Life Television is this:

With the evidence of seismologists who have devoted years of study to earth disturbances, in the years ahead, the city is certain to suffer a massive earthquake that could cause up to 100,000 deaths and billions of dollars in damages.

The reason lies in the San Andreas Fault running under the heart of the City in its course through the state of California. Although scientists have been studying this giant rift in the earth over a long period they see only a remote possibility that earthquakes can eventually be prevented.

The hope they hold out is that perhaps in five years prediction will be possible so that with three days' notice San Francisco could be evacuated.

San Francisco's building codes are so loosely drawn that, in the view of the seismologists, skyscrapers would be badly shaken if not destroyed in a massive quake like that of 1906.

The documentary points out the 13 schools and at least two large hospitals built directly on the fault. Also on the fault are the Police Department, the nerve center for disaster operations, and the Civil Defense Operations Room. In a heavy quake they would cease to function.

"In terms of loss of life the worst credible earthquake would probably occur during the rush traffic hour between 5 and 5:30 in the afternoon," said Louis Pakiser, director of the United States Geological Survey in California. He adds, "and I think it's quite credible that the total loss of life in the San Francisco area from such an earthquake could be about as great as the total American loss of life in Vietnam. That would be about 50,000 lives."

Possibly as many as 100,000 is within the range of possibilities.

"Scientists believe that many of these lives could be saved. The key to saving them is understanding the causes of earthquakes. To do this they have returned to the 1906 earthquake, the most closely analyzed in the world. It shook over 50,000 square miles of California."

The attitude of San Francisco, in the view of the scientists, is "Don't look now, it can't happen here."

It did happen in Anchorage, Alaska, just 11 years ago on Good Friday when 100 died in that sparsely populated area with $400 million in property damage. The shock waves were slightly stronger than those recorded in 1906 when this city was destroyed. San Francisco lies on the same fault system as Anchorage.

A hardy lot, Californians take earthquakes in their stride as natural phenomena like tornadoes and hurricanes. A study of the temblor in Long Beach in 1933 showed how 10-story buildings were shaken. The 1906 quake was 600 times stronger and the forecast in "The City That Waits to Die" is of the same magnitude.

In the Imperial Valley a whole swarm of minor-to-moderate tremors centering around the town of Brawley set nerves on edge with the memory of May, 1940, when Brawley was destroyed in a quake that measured 8.6 on the Richter scale — 10,000 times stronger than the strongest recent tremor. Townspeople and farmers in the Valley, where lettuce and carrot crops are being harvested, were asking when the "big one" would come, following, as in 1940, the swarm of moderates.

Animals were more shaken up, outwardly at least, than people. Horses were skittish after each tremor. The town veterinarians were busy prescribing tranquilizers for dogs unnerved by successive shakes.

The clearest signal came from a flock of hens. From laying an average of seven eggs a day they began after the swarm to lay two dozen a day. Those hens were getting down to it so that if the "big one" should strike they would have done their duty.

The "big one" for San Francisco may be years away. With each year prediction is closer to a practical reality and with it measures to save lives. But in the interval the great giants under the earth in the San Andreas Fault are the unseen yet ever-present threat.

Assembly may help honeybees

By ROBERT E. MILLER

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Ohio's legislature is being asked to come to the rescue of an army of workers who contribute heavily to the state's economy without pay—the honeybees.

Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna, has as his main purpose in his honeybee bill the encouragement of honey sales and a ban on misleading advertising and labeling. The state's nearly 9,000 registered beekeepers who don't want their product adulterated are pushing the move.

At hearings before the House Agriculture and Conservation Committee, Locker's bill drew impressive support from others as well, including a spokesman for Ohio State University's Cooperative Extension Service.

"There's no question about the value of a strong honey market as a key part of the state's agricultural economy," said OSU's Lawrence J. Connor in testifying in support of the bill.

He explained that bees, the only source of true honey, are vitally needed to pollinate virtually every type of fruit tree along with numerous other crops. "Vine crops, including cucumbers, won't develop if they are not pollinated, and we find that it's the honeybee that's doing the work," said the OSU researcher.

The types of mislabeled products that resulted in Locker's bill include syrups and others that have words such as "honey-flavored" or "imitation honey" on their labels.

"Let them call their 'golden glow' or whatever they want to call it," said Charles Richard Osborne, a beekeeping hobbyist who came from Middletown to support the bill.

Winston Dunham, a commercial beekeeper who owns Deer Creek Honey Farms, warned that the honeybee is about the only pollinating insect left.

"Many other insects under our system of agriculture and because of pesticides have become extinct," he said.

He estimated that 80 per cent of all pollination is done by the honeybees "who work for free. The incentive in keeping them is obvious."

The committee looked at some products that apparently would be banned by Locker's bill. They included one imitation honey containing mostly corn syrup and a brand of "Maple Honey-flavored Syrup" which listed its honey content in fine print at about 3 per cent.

Locker's bill prohibits the sale of any product that is "in the semblance of honey, and labeled, advertised or otherwise represented to be honey if it is not honey."

It also prohibits the use of the word "honey" as part of its name.

Violators would be guilty of a second degree misdemeanor punishable by up to 90 days in jail.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Tickling fetish:

no laughing matter

DEAR ABBY: Ned and I have been married for seven years, and we have one child. Our marriage is far from perfect, but it's a lot better than most.

My biggest problem is that Ned loves to tickle me. Now, please don't laugh, Abby, because it's not funny. I mean, Ned holds me down, and tickles my ribs and the bottoms of my feet until I am screaming and nearly hysterical.

Ned also likes to tickle our little girl, and she doesn't like it either.

I've begged Ned to stop this tickling business, but he insists that it's all in fun—that people enjoy laughing, so I shouldn't get angry with him.

What is your opinion?

TICKLED (NEARLY TO DEATH)
DEAR TICKLED: Ned may not know it, but "tickling" is an ancient form of torture. If he continues to tickle you, knowing that you dislike it, he is being intentionally sadistic.

Tickling one beyond his ability to tolerate it may appear to be "harmless" game-all in fun-but in reality it's downright cruel.

DEAR ABBY: My husband left me three years ago. At first I thought he would come back, but he never did. I was seven months pregnant at the time.

He just took off, and I never heard from him again. To tell you the truth, I don't even know if he's living or dead. And I wouldn't have the foggiest notion of where to look for him.

Now for my big problem: I met a guy who loves me, and wants to marry me and adopt my child. I want to marry him, but how can I get married when I am not even divorced?

All the lawyers around here talk double talk. Isn't there a mail-order divorce I can send for?

OUT IN THE BOONDOCKS

DEAR OUT: Sorry, a mail-order divorce wouldn't be worth the paper it was printed on, so forget it. Look around for a lawyer who talks single, if you want to BE single, which is absolutely necessary before you can get married again.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are going to be married this June. She will graduate from high school the end of May. We would like to know if it would be proper to send graduation and wedding announcements in the same envelope? It would save time and money.

And can we kill two birds with one stone and send one thank-you note for graduation and wedding gifts?

WONDERING IN N.W.
DEAR WONDERING: The graduation and wedding announcements should be sent separately. And so should the thank-you notes.

DEAR ABBY: Student, Henry County Sr. High, McDonough, Ga. wrote: "I have learned to love according to character not color."

If the late Martin Luther King Jr. (himself a Georgian) were alive today, he would have been proud. For he once said: "I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin, but by the content of their character."

Today In History

Today is Tuesday, April 8, the 98th day of 1975. There are 267 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

In 1513, the Spanish explorer, Ponce de Leon, landed in Florida in his search for the fountain of youth.

On this date —

In 1500, a French army, aided by Swiss mercenaries, conquered Milan.

In 1730, the first Jewish congregation in American consecrated its first synagogue in New York City. The congregation dated back to 1655.

In 1826, Secretary of State Henry Clay fought a duel with Senator John Randolph of Virginia. Neither was hurt.

In 1939, King Zog of Albania fled as Italian troops invaded his country.

In 1961, a referendum in France approved a peace settlement with nationalist rebels in Algeria.

In 1968, the U.S. Supreme Court removed the death penalty provision from the Lindbergh kidnapping law.

Ten years ago: A federal grand jury in Newark, New Jersey indicted eight major oil companies on charges of conspiring to fix oil prices in New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Five years ago: The U.S. Senate rejected President Richard Nixon's Supreme Court nominee, Judge G. Harold Carswell.

Board tables math proposal

Two major items discussed by the Washington C.H. City Board of Education Monday night were tabled for consideration at the next meeting. In the interim, one of the matters will be the topic at a workshop session.

The board failed to take any significant action on a request from the mathematics department of the system to allow certain students to enroll in an accelerated program which would include taking algebra in the eighth grade. As proposed the plan would offer interested students the opportunity to complete the current math course offerings at the end of their junior year, and allow them to take some advanced mathematics during their senior year.

The major objections voiced at the meeting came from Superintendent Edwir M. Nestor, who commented on the possibility that the class of students might dwindle to a relatively small size by the time the enrollees became seniors. He felt that in such a case, the cost of maintaining the class might become excessive.

The board tabled any action until officials of the Middle School contact the students and parents who might be involved to determine their interest in such an advanced program.

A WORK SESSION will be scheduled for consideration of an increase in the increment paid to faculty members who are involved in extra-curricular activities such as sports, music and drama.

A proposal outlined by the school's athletic council met with considerable opposition by board members, and they resolved to review the entire increment scale at the special session.

The athletic council's recommendation included an index-type scale which meant that the longer a teacher was engaged in the extra-curricular activity, the greater pay he or she would receive. Board members seemed to favor a flat increment for each position. Under the flat scale plan, a coach with several years of experience would receive the same pay as a first-year coach.

Another objection voiced by some members was the fact that the proposal called for increments totaling nearly twice as much as it now paid. At least two members of the board said they could not yet justify such a large increase, in spite of the fact that there has been no increase whatsoever in the scale during the past five years.

Board member Jerry Sheppard, who serves on the athletic council, voiced his objection to tabling the item, saying that the board has had nearly a month to consider the proposal. He felt some action, whether favorable or not, should have been taken at Monday's meeting.

PRIDE, an organization which evaluates guidance counseling in Ohio school districts, has submitted its report on the Washington C.H. district. Their report was presented to board members at the meeting.

In conclusion the report commended the system in seven areas while suggesting six items which might improve the counseling program. Commendations included the ratio of students per counselor, the amount of clerical help provided for school counselors, the fact that each counselor has a private office for interviews with students, the excellence of the program of counseling students concerning their curriculum, the fine cooperation between counselors and administrators, the adequate funding for counselors and the rapport of counselors with the heads of various departments.

Areas seemed in need of improvement to the PRIDE evaluators included creation of an advisory committee of parents, teachers, students and administrators to suggest possible deficiencies in the counseling program, the need for earlier detection and treatment for children with learning problems, regular scheduling of group counseling sessions, more information on career possibilities beginning at an earlier age, greater communication between counselors and officials at the vocational school, and intensified efforts to determine from former students what programs were most beneficial and which programs seemed to be of the least value. The last item should include information concerning the advanced studies and occupational endeavors of former students, PRIDE added.

The board approved a request from Fred Jones, high school principal, to allow four students to attend the 1975 Teenage Institute on Alcohol and Other Drugs. It was noted that two students attended the four-day conference at Ohio Wesleyan University last year, and after participating, the students were able to speak to civil clubs and organization (as well as fellow students) concerning the problem of teenage drug abuse. Jones said he hoped that local clubs would again sponsor the students by furnishing the $45 fee for registration, meals and housing. The conference will be held April 10-14.

The board also approved a request from Commander Harold Vail, ROTC instructor, for the Junior Naval ROTC unit to attend a "mini-boot camp" at Great Lakes Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill. Thirty-six students in the program will attend the weeklong session later this month.

Two other items concerning high school students were discussed by the board. Members approved the 1975-76 courses of study submitted by Jones and the high school counselors. There will be no change in the graduation requirements, but several new course offerings have been added, including an option for junior and senior students to participate in physical education. Course offerings at Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus are included in the school's registration materials.

As a matter of information, the board was notified that a non-curricular workshop will be held at the high school the afternoon of April 24. At that time, students are exposed to several "hobby-type" activities which they may wish to pursue.

Ora Burdge, local representative of an organization which lobbies the legislature concerning school support from state tax money, addressed the board briefly. He urged all board members to contact their local legislators and make their need for school subsidies well known, especially now when finances for the next several years are being discussed by both the Ohio House and Ohio Senate.

IN OTHER action, the board:

- Approved several advance study courses for faculty members as reimbursable by the board upon successful completion;
- Noted receiving $23,767.20 from the state auditor for the general fund. This is the first of four such payments to be received by the school system from surplus state funds by the end of the school year;

- Approved employment of two part-time tutors at a rate of $4 per hour;
- Employed Carl Anders and Kirk Thompson to coach track at the Middle School at a coaching increment of $100 each;

- Was informed that tornado drills are being instituted at each of the schools in the system;

- Noted that the new school bus has been received and is in service on the vocational school route;

- Approved sharing the cost of the new fence for the baseball diamond at the senior high with the baseball boosters club;

- Approved a request from John Marcum, president of the Washington C.H. Jaycees, for use of the high school grounds as the site for a circus June 12. All proceeds will be donated to the community education program;

- Employed Mrs. Beverly Eyre as a substitute teacher for elementary and Middle School classes;

- Approved reimbursement to several faculty members for the expenses incurred at professional meetings; and

- Employed Robert Howland as a substitute bus driver.

Academic center bids fall below estimates

HILLSBORO — Apparent low bids on the Tri-County Academic Center project in Brown County, to serve a five-county area, amount to less than the $1.4 million estimated, but various alternates could raise the total to that vicinity.

Although it will be about 10 days before all bids are evaluated, the initial review shows bids totaling $1,119,103. Bids were opened in Columbus at the office of the State architect who will make a recommendation to the Ohio Board of Regents and the board of trustees of Southern State College.

The two-year college has been functioning as a branch of the University of Cincinnati at Eastern High School near Macon. The new campus, which will serve Adams, Brown, Highland, Clinton and Fayette counties as a part of the new Southern State College, will be situated between Fincastle and Macon.

Apparent low bidder on the general contract was Navajo Builders, Portsmouth, at $729,600. Other bids came from Dayton Construction Co., Dayton, $814,449; J.W. Snyder, Springfield, $843,800; Arnold L. Beck and Son, Cincinnati, $912,500; Al Meyer, Cincinnati, $930,000; C.A. Yeager, Portsmouth, $970,600, and Hillsmith Construction Co., Cincinnati, $999,100.

E.R. Plumbing, Batavia, turned in the low figure on plumbing at $88,684. Other bidders were William J. Teepe, Cincinnati, $99,278; H.H. Randolph, Cincinnati, $99,999.

Initial low bidder on heating, ventilating and air conditioning was Reuhlmann-Spinelli Corp., Cincinnati, at $142,150. Other bids came from Perfection Heating, Cincinnati, $160,980; Fred B. Debra Co., Cincinnati, $158,981; Peck, Hanford and Briggs, Cincinnati, $176,740; Three Rivers Sheet Metal, Cincinnati, $182,000; John F. Deye, Cincinnati, $213,700.

Kyne and Godfrey Electric, Miamisburg, had the low offer on electrical work at $158,699. Other bidders were Murphy Electric, Cincinnati, $162,000; Becker Electric, Cincinnati, $167,484; Midwest Electrical Co., Cincinnati, $173,371; Don A. Ayer, Cincinnati, $207,000; West End Electric, Portsmouth, $350,786.

Good, excellent ratings given on local projects

The Fayette County representatives at the district science fair last weekend received good and excellent ratings for their projects.

Jay Johnson, a seventh grader at Madison Mills Elementary School, returned from Wright State University, Fairborn, with an "excellent" rating for his project on "The Eye." He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Johnson, CCC Highway-E.

Mark, Hoppes, eighth grader, at Jeffersonville Elementary School, received a "good" rating for his project dealing with no-till farming. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hoppes, Jeffersonville.

Both attended the day-long activities Saturday at the university outside Dayton in which nearly 500 youngsters participated. All projects had to be on display at 8 a.m., and judging was not completed until after 3 p.m. They had been selected to represent the county for more than 150 students in the county who participated in the local science fair at Eber Junior High School.

No students from Miami Trace High School entered the competition, and Washington C.H. has no city-wide science fair.

Pollock new Country Club president

Warren Pollock, 1225 High St., was elected president of the Washington Country Club board of directors at the annual membership meeting held Monday night.

Pollock, a salesman for Landmark, Inc., succeeds Donald Long, whose terms has expired.

Other officers elected were Ralph Douglass, vice president, and Allen Willoughby, Harris Willis and Ralph Hyer, members of the board of directors. Willoughby, Willis and Hyer will serve three-year terms on the board.

Also serving on the board are George Walker, William Mount, Mrs. Harry Thraikill and Jim Wilson. Club pro Tony Capuana was appointed as secretary-treasurer.

Various committees were appointed during the meeting. They were:

House — Wilson, chairman, Willoughby and Willis; greens — Walker, chairman, Willis and Hyer; golf and handicap — Mount, chairman, Willoughby and Douglass; women's golf — Mrs. Loren Noble, chairman; social — Mrs. Thraikill, Willoughby and Douglass; ladies bridge luncheon committee — Mrs. Mac Dews Sr., chairman, and membership approving committee — Hyer, chairman.

Capuana said the board approved one change in the Country Club dues structure. Persons are now permitted to join the Country Club as social members. Under a social membership, persons have no golfing privileges. The cost for a social membership is $75 per year, plus a $125 entrance fee.

The only other type of membership available at the Country Club is a family membership. The cost for a family membership is $200 per year and a $125 entrance fee.

Urge rebates to students

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Colleges should do like auto makers and offer cash rebates to boost plummeting enrollments, a student editor of the Daily Kent Stater suggests.

Keith Sinzinger said his idea is a tongue-in-cheek response to a Cleveland business professor's statement that colleges should not be ashamed to "sell themselves" to prospective students.

Sinzinger, assistant news editor on the Kent State University paper, said the rebates could be funded from public relations money the university pours into conventional advertising avenues.

According to Sinzinger, the university spent $500 during the last school term for ads in the New York Times.

Sinzinger called the money "wasted."

Seek walkway from Chillicothe

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio corrections department said authorities searched Monday for Larry L. Smith, 29, an inmate at Chillicothe Correctional Institute who disappeared from the honor dormitory apparently by taking out a screen window.

The department said Smith was on a two to 20 year sentence for breaking and entering and receiving stolen property.

Meanwhile, the department said, a search continued for James Michael Moss, 25, an honor inmate at London Correctional Institution who was reported missing last Friday.

The department said Moss was serving 2½ to 45 years for forgery and receiving stolen properties.

The iguana looks ferocious but is completely harmless to man.

Reds top L.A. in 14 innings

CINCINNATI (AP) — You have to hand it to George Foster. He has a distinct flair for the dramatic.

Foster, who has been trying to crack into the Cincinnati Reds lineup for five seasons, did his thing in a bit role again Monday.

In 1972, inserted in the National League title game against Pittsburgh as a pinch runner, he earned instant fame by dashing home on a wild pitch to win the pennant.

Monday's scene was reminiscent. He was a last resort.

"I had no choice," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson. "There were no other right hand hitters left."

Foster went to the plate in the 14th inning of the emotion-charged major league opener against archrival Los Angeles as a pinch hitter.

With the winning run at third, he dribbled a grounder to Dodger third baseman Ron Cey and struggled sluggishly for first base.

"I always get out of the box slow, plus it was cold and I could hardly feel my legs and feet," said Foster, a 26-year-old parttime outfielder.

A hush fell over the record opening day crowd as the outcome of the game rode on Foster's footrace to first base. "It was a split second thing. The replay showed I just barely got there," said Foster.

With that the Reds nipped the Dodgers 2-1 to end one of the finest season-opening pitching duels ever staged in the home of professional baseball.

Dodger first baseman Steve Garvey disagreed with umpire Paul Pryor's game-ending call.

"In my heart, I knew we had him," said Garvey, the only player in the game to collect three hits.

"To me, he looked out," added Dodger Manager Walter Alston.

The three-and-a-half hour struggle, viewed by a record throng of 52,526 had belonged solely to the pitchers until Foster's desperate dash broke the ice.

Starters Don Gullett and Don Sutton battled to a standoff before departing with the score locked at 1-1.

"That's the longest I've ever gone in my first game," said Gullett, who scattered five hits in 9 2-3 innings. Sutton went seven, yielding five hits, before giving way to Cy Young Award winner Mike Marshall.

Dave Concepcion ignited the uprising with a single to open the 14th. He went to second on a passed ball by catcher Steve Yeager, prior to a walk to Cesar Geronimo.

Ken Griffey advanced both runners with a sacrifice bunt.

Concepcion was then thrown out in a rundown near home plate when Darrel Chaney grounded back to Hough. That set the stage for Foster.

"We were all running with him," said Johnny Bench.

"I was cheering him all the way," said the boyish-looking Darcy, who was making only his seventh major league appearance.

Darcy was on the ropes in the top of the 14th. Garvey led off with a double and moved to third on Cey's single. But Darcy fanned Steve Yeager and coaxed Bill Russell to hit into an inning-ending double play.

That and some fancy glove work at third by newcomer John Vukovich saved the day for the Reds.

Cincinnati out hit the Dodgers 9-8 in the marathon opener, with Bench attributing the low totals to tricky shadows that hindered batters.

The heated rivalry continues Wednesday night with Jack Billingham, 19-9 last year, facing 20-game winner Andy Messersmith.

Monday's game marked the 10th straight time the two clubs played before sellout crowds.

Panthers grab win in extra innings

The Miami Trace Panthers won their first baseball game of the young season by slipping past Circleville 7-6 in extra innings.

The Panthers needed a run in the bottom of the seventh to tie the game and Coach Dave Pellor's nine went on to score in the bottom of the eighth to earn the victory for reliever Greg Cobb.

CIRCLEVILLE tallied all six of its runs in the third and fourth innings off starter Kevin Dunn. Cobb came in to limit the Tigers to three hits and no runs in the last four innings.

The Panthers trailed 6-5 going into the final frame, but Tom Riley walked to start the seventh and Phil Skinner came in as a pinch runner. Then, Skinner went to third on a sacrifice and a single before scoring on catcher Jay Mossbarger's single to center tying the score.

COBB HELD Circleville hitless in the eighth and Bob Phillips led off Trace's eighth with a single going to second on a wild pitch. Rex Coe popped out and Skinner struck out before Alan Copper delivered the game winning hit.

Riley provided most of the hitting punch with a triple and three runs batted in and Gary English knocked in two runs with a double and a single.

The Panthers will take a 1-3 season record to Chillicothe Tuesday before hosting Springfield Northeastern Wednesday afternoon.

Montreal trips St. Louis, 8-4

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN

AP Sports Writer

Today Gary Carter is a man. Monday night he was Superman.

The rookie catcher-outfielder of the Montreal Expos turned 21 today after throwing a party for himself at the expense of the St. Louis Cardinals. He smacked two singles and a three-run homer, driving in four runs as the Expos opened the baseball season with an 8-4 triumph over Bob Gibson and the Cards.

In other National League openers, the Cincinnati Reds edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 2-1 in 14 innings and the Houston Astros trimmed the Atlanta Braves 6-2.

The only American League game saw Nolan Ryan fire a three-hitter, striking out 12, while the California Angels rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth to edge the Kansas City Royals 3-2.

With outfielders Bob Bailey and Rich Coggins sidelined, the Expos used rookie Tony Scott in left field and Carter, the No. 1 catcher in the minor leagues last year, in right. Scott's two-out, two-run double in the eighth inning off Bob Gibson gave the Expos a 5-4 lead and Carter, who nicked Gibson for a run-scoring single in the first, wrapped it up in the ninth with his three-run homer off a high fast ball from Elias Sosa.

"I'll tell you this was a heck of a birthday present," said Carter, who hit .407 in nine games at the end of last season, batted .321 in spring training and is hitting a cool .750 this year.

Astros 6, Braves 2

Houston's Jose Cruz took advantage of an interference call against Atlanta catcher Vic Correll with a tie-breaking three-run homer, capping a five-run fifth-inning rally against Phil Niekro that erased a 2-0 deficit.

Cesar Cedeno's infield single drove in the first of five unearned runs before Milt May apparently flied out to end the inning. But plate umpire Doug Harvey ruled Correll's glove had interfered with May's bat. Cliff Johnson's double then tied the score and Cruz then clubbed his three-run shot over the right-field fence.

Angels 3, Royals 2

Rudy Meoli opened the ninth with a pinch single, California's first hit since the third inning. Steve Mingori replaced Steve Busby and the Angels loaded the bases on a walk to Morris Nettles and Mickey Rivers' bunt single. Tommy Harper drove in the tying run with a bloop single off Doug Bird and the winner came home on Bruce Bochte's sacrifice fly.

Lions drop league contest

By MARK REA

Record-Herald Sports Writer

The Washington C.H. Blue Lion baseball squad evened their record at 3-3 for the young season as they dropped a 9-5 decision to the Wilmington Hurricane on their home field.

Court House's defense has not lived up to the expectations of head coach Rodger Mickle as the team has been giving up many unearned runs in their first six outings. Last night was no exception as the Lion defense was far from spectacular as they committed four errors in the field, costing them three unearned runs.

The Hurricane runners ran often as they collected a total of six stolen bases en route to victory. As it turned out, they scored the winning run in the fourth inning when Mark Whaney singled, Duane Earley forced him at second, took second on an error, and was singled home by Randy Newell.

Earley went the distance for the win, giving up eight hits while striking out five and walking five. Larry Dumford took the loss while giving up nine hits and striking out two and issuing three walks in his five innings of work.

Having big days for Washington were Mark Fisher, who went three-for-four, and Scott Johnson, who collected a pair of RBIs and did an excellent job in two innings of relief pitching.

Tomorrow, the Lions will travel to Circleville to take on the Tigers.

Panther Reserves split doubleheader

The Unioto reserves took the first game with a five-run outburst in the bottom of the fourth to wipe out a 1-0 Panther lead.

The Trace reserves held on to take the second game 5-4 with Brant Dunn getting the victory. The Panthers held a five-run lead going into the final two innings with the Unioto rally falling a run short.

Trace's Neil Spears provided the offensive punch going 3-3 from the plate with three runs batted in.

The Miami Trace reserve's next game will be Tuesday at Chillicothe.

Mahan Building expansion eyed

Possible expansion of the Mahan Building and construction of a new facility for junior fair activities on the Fayette County Fairground are being considered by the Fayette County Fair Board.

The two proposed expansion projects were among topics discussed by fair board members at the regular meeting held Monday night.

A definite decision on the expansion is expected to be reached by the fair board in about two weeks, and if the project is approved, it is hoped it can be completed before this year's county fair.

The project, as tentatively proposed, would include a 20-foot addition to the front of the building. The addition would provide approximately 1,200 more square feet to be used for expanded kitchen and storage facilities and more office space for the fair secretary. A cloak room would also be provided in the expansion project.

Fair board members believe more space is needed in the Mahan Building to handle the many banquets and other activities held there throughout the year.

The board members also discussed the possibility of constructing a new building in the vicinity of the Mahan and Youth Buildings on the fairground to house fair youth activities and other events throughout the year.

The construction project is being considered since the junior fair style review and demonstrations must be relocated because the Dayton Power and Light Co. discontinued providing a tent and other facilities for the events after last year's fair. Another alternative being considered by the fair board is the rearrangement of commercial display space in the Mahan Building for the junior fair style review and demonstrations.

Fair board members also approved a roofing project for the old secretary's office, located near the grandstand. The old office will be remodeled for use as a nurse's station and ticket booth.

In other matters, the board approved

Three defendants fined in court

Three persons were fined Monday on non-traffic charges while another charge was dismissed by acting Judge Robert L. Simpson in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

Arthur J. Bailey, 21, Columbus, was fined $100 and sentenced to 10 days in jail on a charge of petty theft of gasoline and oil valued at $4.76 from the Sohio Stop 35 April 6.

Judge Simpson suspended eight days of the fine against Bailey and ordered him to make restitution for the merchandise.

John C. Elliott Jr., 19, Bloomingburg, was also fined $100 and sentenced to 10 days in jail after he pleaded no contest to a charge of issuing a bad check in the amount of $16.61 to K-Mart last December 6.

Judge Simpson suspended the jail term pending two years good behavior.

Judge Simpson also fined William H. Cartwright, 51, address unknown, $50 on a charge of disorderly conduct by intoxication but credited him with time already served in jail.

In one other non-traffic case aired Monday, Judge Simpson dismissed a charge of assault, filed on a private warrant, against Robert O. Dolphin, 23, of 227 Kennedy Ave.

a junior fair budget totaling $7,960 as presented by Jane Ann Kiger, junior fair board president; purchased a new transformer for the electrical system in the area of the livestock barns; purchased a new movie screen for use in the Mahan Building, and completed plans for participation in the spring district fair managers meeting Wednesday in the Mahan Building.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Don Ginn, vice president; Mrs. James Brannigan, secretary; and Mrs. Tom LaVen, treasurer.

Each Cherry Hill student who entered a project in the school science and hobby fair was presented with a recognition certificate. Jenny Bienz, Beth Brannigan and Kevin Highfield presented the winners with their awards.

Mrs. Charles Shaper's fifth grade class entertained the group with a patriotic play. Mrs. Emily King assisted Mrs. Shaper in directing the performance, and Michael Scott was the master of ceremonies.

The meeting had been opened with a flag ceremony presented by the Happy Face Blue Birds, and the group was dismissed with a reminder that the Cherry Hill round-up and bazaar will be held April 26.

Copleys attend vets convention

The National Region 6 convention of the Veterans of World War I was held over the weekend in Indianapolis, Ind. The Rev. Cloyce Copley and his wife, Cleora, of Washington C. H., attended the meetings which drew representatives from Tennessee, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan as well as Ohio.

Rev. Copley said the turnout at the convention was exceptional considering the fact that delegates from Michigan and Illinois had to combat heavy snows in their home states to attend. Items discussed at the meetings included the interaction of pension funds and social security benefits, and an introduction of those persons from Region 6 who will be seeking office in the organization's national elections.

Victoria Wendel, national president of the women's auxiliary, addressed the women's delegation. She has nurtured the slogan "Come alive in '75" throughout her tenure in office and thanked Mrs. Copley, who had suggested the phrase at a meeting last year.

Robbery charge filed on youth

A 13-year-old Sabina boy has been arrested by Washington C.H. police and charged with robbery, stemming from an incident at 5:30 p.m. Monday, in the 100 block alley behind Craig's Department Store.

The youth allegedly ran up to Naomi Helm, 84, of 325 E. Temple St., and grabbed her purse. In so doing, Ms. Helm was knocked down and received a laceration over the left eye and lacerations of the knees. Police reported her glasses were also bent.

The boy is presently lodged in the juvenile facility at the Fayette County jail.

According to police, he also is charged with an unruly child warrant from Clinton County.

Expenditures OK'd by PTO

STAUNTON — The April meeting of the Staunton-Olive Parent-Teacher Organization was brief, but members approved two expenditures for the schools.

It was decided that each teacher at Staunton be given $25 by the PTO with which to purchase materials and teaching aids for their classrooms. The organization voted to construct a storage area at Olive School.

The last PTO fund-raising project, a skating party, will be held April 22. The party will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will conclude at approximately 9:30 p.m. at the Roller Haven.

Prior to the business meeting, the Kindergarten, first and second graders entertained the group with a short program.

Farmers behind

WEST LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Indiana farmers were generally two days behind in field work through the end of last week, but work on some crops were ahead of schedule. Purdue University Agriculture Statistician reported Monday Earl L. Park only two days last week were suitable for getting work done. Plowing of land for corn and soybeans is 40 per cent complete, but all but five per cent of the total was done last December, Park reported. The total is still five per cent ahead of average, although slightly behind last year's work progress rate.

Opening lead - jack of diamonds.

This deal occurred in the World Olympiad pair championship. Declarer got to three notrump and West led the jack of diamonds, which held. West continued with a diamond to the ace, and East returned the queen to declarer's king.

South's prospects were far from bright at this point, but he combined good luck with good judgment and came out smelling like a rose.

He led the ten of hearts at trick four, covered by West with the queen and won in dummy with the ace. Then he played the queen of clubs, planning to finesse if East followed low.

Had East played the deuce, South would easily have made the contract by continuing with a low club from dummy. But actually East covered the queen with the king, won by declarer with the ace.

Now South continued with the five of clubs and finessed the eight! This passed off very pleasantly when East followed low, and declarer eventually finished with nine tricks.

The deep club finesse was absolutely essential to making the contract. Without it South would surely have failed in his mission.

Finessing the eight of clubs may seem more an act of inspiration than logic, but actually declarer had solid grounds for this play. He reasoned, first of all, that East was bound to have the singleton or doubleton king, for with K-x he would surely not have played the king.

He also reasoned that while it was possible for East to have the K-9 of clubs, he was far more likely to have started with either K-7, K-6, K-3 or K-2, and that the finesse of the eight was therefore much the better play.

Frequent Strep Throats

My 7-year-old boy constantly gets strep throats. I am concerned about the possibility that he will develop rheumatic fever. I had it as a child.

Mr. K.J., Ind.

Dear Mr. J.: There has been a very definite decrease in the frequency and the severity of rheumatic fever since the advent of the antibiotics.

These have also decreased the frequency of the heart complication caused by rheumatic fever.

The streptococcus germ responsible for rheumatic fever is very sensitive to many antibiotics.

Years ago, the "strep" throat was a source of terror. Today, the germ is recognized early by culture and treated intensively. The result of such treatment was pointed up by a well-documented study of rheumatic fever.

I have noises in my head all day long. They sound like a steam whistle and, sometimes, like the noise I used to hear as a child when I put a shell over my ear. I am 72 years old. I worry that I might have a stroke.

Mr. N.M., N.Y.

Dear Mr. M.:

It is not uncommon for people who hear noises in their head to be frightened. This condition is known as "tinnitus." The noises seem to get worse and louder with fatigue and emotional tension. In a quiet room, especially during the night when anxieties seem to increase, the noises seem more pronounced.

Many people with tinnitus falsely believe that they are going to have a stroke, become deaf, or even have a brain tumor. None of these fears are justified. They can be eased by the doctor who, after a complete examination, may pinpoint the cause.

In the elderly, slight narrowing of the blood vessels may be responsible. There are also a great many simple conditions in the ears which may produce temporary tinnitus.

Some drugs are available for the relief of tinnitus. Mostly, however, reassurance will go a long way towards minimizing the discomfort.

In Focus

by

Charlie Pensyl

Three hundred bucks will still buy you a pretty good camera, but just don't count on that situation being permanent. The value of the buck is in a powderive and with the printing presses working overtime the prognosis is grave. By the government's own selected figures, the dollar has lost three-quarters of its purchasing power in the 41 years since F.D.R. launched the New Deal; two-thirds in the 19 years since the end of World War II; one-third in the first six years after Nixon was elected President.

So we come to the 1975 and 1976 Budget (Why does Budget start with a capital "B"?) You know for years our Presidents have tried to hide a large part of the deficits from us by placing them outside the Budgets. When we gather these outside things in we come up with a deficit figure of $120.4 billions. Ford's proposals would cost more than all the declared wars we ever fought. Think about that! $662,800,000,000 ain't peanuts, dad.

Politicians talk about the "wage-price-spiral" as though that was the cause of inflation. Man, that's the effect, not the cause. By dictionary definition, inflation is an increase in the quantity of money. Printing presses make it. Those politicians with their fingers pointing at labor and business are the boys running the presses.

The wolf is at the door, children. To survive we jolly-well better reject all Budget policies that call for the creation of more dollars, higher prices, and more controls over the necessities of life. We gotta rally to the cry of "Less Government, more individual responsibility" and freedom for all to compete in the market-place. The hour is late.
